HILLES OUTLINES REBELS' FEAR OF VILLA COLE RETURNED PLANS OF PARTY CAUSE OF THE VICTORY ASCITY'S MAYOR

To Decrease Southern and Territorial Representation at National Convention.

REPORT AS IS DRAFTED Is the Work of a Special Committee on Which is Governor H. D. Hatfield.

NEW YORK, April 8 .- Charles D. Hilles, chairman of the Republican National Committee, today made public the proposed plan to decrease the percentage of the southern and 'tertitorial representation in the Republican national convention in 1916, and thereafter from approximately thirtyfave per cent of the total voting strength to less than sixteen per cent, as provided in resolutions adopted by the committee at its meeting last December.

The plan is addressed to the Republican conventions of the several states, which are asked to ratify the action of the national body before January 1, 1915. A special committee composed of Charles B. Warren of Michigan, Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, and Governor Henry D. Hatfield of West Virginia, drafted the report of the action taken in December which embodies other resolutions adopted by the national committee. These guarantee:

Referred to States. Recognition, in the call to be issued for the next national convention, of the right of any state to provide for the election of delegates in direct primar-

The right of any state to elect all delegates from the state at large, or part from the state at large, and part from congressional districts. These provisions were adopted with a view to eliminating contests before the national body such as in the past have produced discord and dissension. Some members of the National Committee, spurred on by the insistent demands of a large body of voters, sought to have the committee call a special convention for the purpose of adopting a new basis of representa-tion, but the opinion prevailed of those who maintained that inasmuch as no methods were provided by the existing laws of the various states for the election of delegates to such a convention in direct primary elections, the special convention might not represent the sentiments and desires of a majority of the party.

It was resolved that the National crease should have been provided in southern representation, the special committee in its recital says it is within the province of a majority of the convention of 1916; if it so desires, to establish another new basis for future conventions. The plan can be ratified by any Republican convention for the purpose of nominating candidates for state offices, or for the purpose of adopting a party platform, or by any conven-tion called by the Republican state committee and held before January 1, 1915. The statement of the special committee that drafted the plan for presentation to the several Republican state conventions concludes with the following: Should Be Ratified. "The committee appointed to pre-sent the proposed plan to the state (Continued on page 10.)

of Mexico.

EL PASO, Tex., April 8.—"Embroid-ering the salient facts of the successful Constitutionalist campaign against Torreon are a multitude of incidents hardly less interesting," said Associ-ated Press correspondents who accompanied General Villa and who have reached El Paso. "What struck us chiefly during the conflict was the mixture of fear and confidence which Villa's name inspired to his followers. "'General Villa says he will shoot anybody who cuts the telegraph wires by shooting from the train' called out an officer to soldiers on top of a troop train who were improving their, marksmanship by shooting at the insulators on telegraph poles. Instantly the firing ceased. Nobody doubted that Villa meant what he said.

"'Send a telegram at once, said a newspaper correspondent to a military operator in his field office under a tree near the railroad track. "'I can't senior,' was the regretful response 'General Villa has just notified us that no messages must go out until further orders from him and he will shoot us if we send this one even though it is approved by his private secretary,' to which there was obviously no answer. Courage in the hospital was matched by courage in the field and by a willingness to venture everything 'for the great prize of death in battle.' Never were raw soldiers more easily turned back from flight into the thick of death and conflict. During the first daylight attack on Gomez Palacio the federal fires got so hot that things seemed to be going badly for the rebels. Men began to leave the trenches and make their way to the rear. Two cannon were attached to cassions that were waiting to be placed in position at a certain point and began also to move backward. "All at once a Mexican boy about
